Professional Background

For more than 20 years I have worked in the private sector in various management positions abroad and in Hungary, at medium and large companies, in multinational environment. During my work, I gained experience in business development, organizational development and various management areas, but I always liked strategic management, reorganization and crisis management projects, that required complex problem solving.

I can easily overview, how companies operate, whether they are small businesses or large companies, and I am aware of the difficulties they face on a daily base, both organizational and operational.

Expertise

- Economic mediation
- Family relationship disputes
- Organizational mediation

Personal Style

After many years spent in business as a leader, motherhood has reordered my priorities and is increasingly oriented towards the helping professions. Conflict resolution has always been an exciting challenge for me. Unfortunately, however, I see that people are not familiar with alternative conflict resolution solutions, that are shorter, more cost effective, more efficient and more people-centered.

These insights have led me to further develop my career into business coaching and mediation along with business consulting, and learn methods and techniques, that can be used not only in dispute resolution but also in various areas of life.

Mediation is a wonderful way for me to help people improve their relationships and communication so that they can work together to find their own solutions to their problems and disputes.

I am working to make more people aware of the benefits of this method, because I do believe by doing so we can become part of a more relaxed, more peaceful society.
