

Application Form for CEDR Conciliation (NAJ)

The CEDR Conciliation Scheme provides an opportunity for customers to resolve disputes with business through dialogue facilitated by a professional CEDR Accredited Mediator. The Scheme is available to the customers of businesses who have subscribed directly with CEDR or via their membership of a trade body. Conciliation focuses on what you and the business would be happy to agree to in order to resolve the dispute that has arisen by engaging with the conciliator.

Centre for Effective Dispute Resolution is a Not-for-Profit organisation approved by the CAA, Chartered Trading Standards Institute, Gambling Commission and Ofcom to provide dispute resolution to consumers. Conciliation is available to a customer who must be a private individual who has entered into a contract with a business/ trade body subscribed to CEDR.

CEDR will conciliate disputes if either you or the business (“the parties”) have sought legal advice and/or instructed a solicitor or sought assistance from Trading Standards. We will only decline to assist if the use of these third parties would seriously impair the effectiveness of the service offered to businesses and their customers.

CEDR is not responsible for paying compensation or making a financial award. If your dispute is resolved via the conciliation process and a payment has been agreed the Business will make that payment directly to you.

Please Read These Notes Carefully

Below are areas where CEDR is not able to assist you:

- You have not tried to resolve the dispute directly in writing with the Business and escalated the complaint to the trade body if invited to do so;
- The Business has ceased to be a subscriber to CEDR;
- The dispute is being considered by the courts or is being dealt with by another Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) Body;
- If it is over 12 months since the Business delivered the service that you are complaining about.

How do I make a complaint and what happens next?

- Upon receipt of your completed form CEDR will acknowledge receipt with 14 days
